

P3: Digifab

My digital fabrication project comprises a phone holder made from laser-cut masonite, consisting of five pieces that interlock with each other using joints. It also has a storage area at the back. Additionally, I designed and 3D printed two other pieces: a pencil holder that attaches to the back, and a front-facing speaker that amplifies the phone's sound.

Jakob Stokes

22SP_FA24a | Architectural Design | digiFAB